ORDER OF DETENTION PENDING TRIAL

An initial appearance and arraignment were held in this case on September 27, 2007. Gregg Weddle, Assistant United States Attorney, was present on behalf of Robert Simpson, representing the government, and Andrew Roskind was present representing the defendant. Upon motion of the government for detention stating the defendant is in state custody, and counsel for the defendant stating that the defendant wished to waive her right to a detention hearing at this time but reserve the right to have a hearing at a later date, if appropriate, the defendant shall be detained. Pursuant to the defendant signing a Waiver of Detention Hearing, the defendant is to be detained. 18 U.S.C. § 3142(f)(1)(C). The government stated it had no objections. The defendant was present. For good cause, and by agreement of the defendant, the defendant shall be detained.

The defendant is aware of her rights to a prompt detention hearing and to require the government to meet its burden of proving that no conditions of release exist which will reasonably assure her appearance in court and the safety of the community. The defendant knows that if her detention hearing is waived she will remain in custody while it is continued. The defendant acknowledged in open court that she understands her rights and the consequences of waiving her detention hearing.

For good cause shown, the defendant's request not to contest, and to waive the detention hearing is hereby GRANTED.

It is therefore ORDERED that:

- (1) Defendant be detained.;
- (2) Defendant be committed to the custody of the Attorney General for confinement in a corrections facility separate, to the extent practicable, from persons awaiting or serving sentences or being held in custody pending appeal;
- (3) Defendant be afforded reasonable opportunity for private consultation with counsel; and
- (4) On order of a court of the United States or on request of an attorney for the government, the person in charge of the corrections facility in which the defendant is confined deliver the defendant to a United States marshal for the purpose of an appearance in connection with any court proceeding.
